The Democratic Standing Committee will meet in the Grand Jury room on Saturday June 20th, 1886 at one o'clock p. m. for the purpose of fixing an appointment of delegates from each township according to the vote cast at the last Governor's election.

D. LOWENSTAM, Chairman.

Rosecoe Conkling got a fee of $20,000 for his services to the legislative committee in the Broadway Railway bribery case.

It is said that Mr. Conkling has secured the money necessary to pay off the Reading general mortgage bonds.

When the statement was reported to Mr. Conkling he said: "It has been well known to all the big members of the syndicate in New York for the last six weeks that we have the money—all the money we want. It is only some of the little people in Philadelphia who profess to believe that we haven't got the money—some of them who think that nothing can be done outside of Philadelphia and that nothing can be done in Philadelphia except through one or two houses."

John Dailey, who recently abjured Catholicism, attempted to preach in River Park, Wilkes-Barre last Sunday afternoon, but was prevented by a mob of fully 3,000 persons, including some of the roughest elements in the mining region, who awaited him with a view of throwing him into the Susquehanna River. Had it not been for the position of the police Dailey would doubtless have been seriously injured, if not killed. He was finally escorted home by the officers, followed by an infuriated crowd who made violent efforts to lay hands upon him, but were beaten off by the police. Daily attempted to preach at the same place on Sunday previous, but was prevented in much the same way as narrated above.

An Improbable Story.

Our esteemed Republican contemporary, the Tribune, published in a letter from Washington a story about Mr. Cleveland and Governor Hill which is highly improbable. The point of it is that they were both invited to Mr. Joseph P. Knapp's, in Brooklyn, on Decoration Day and that when Mr. Cleveland learned that Governor Hill was likely to be there "he was angry and said that he should not go; he would never appear, he said, on the same platform with Hill."

To obviate this difficulty, according to the Tribune, Governor Hill wrote a letter to the case before Mr. Hill. When he learned that the President was not pleased with the prospect the Governor responded, "Well, the President shall be accommodated, but this sort of thing is not good politics." Thereupon Governor Hill wrote a letter declining Mr. Knapp's invitation.

This story is a fair sample of the means often employed by Republicans to promote discord among Democratic leaders. Where there are no facts to fortify their desire, they easily invent them. Why should Governor Hill write a letter to the case before Mr. Hill. When he learned that the President was not pleased with the prospect the Governor responded, "Well, the President shall be accommodated, but this sort of thing is not good politics." Thereupon Governor Hill wrote a letter declining Mr. Knapp's invitation.

Journalism and Politics.

Colonel Barr, the veteran editor of the Pittsburgh Post, seems to have been inspired by the Presidential boom for Mr. Childs, to propose an entire State ticket of journalists, with Mr. McClure for Governor, Mr. Singery for Lieutenant-Governor, Mr. Hensel for Congress man-at-large, Mr. Whitman for Secretary of Internal Affairs and Mr. Meyers for Auditor-General. The ticket would be a good one, with Colonel Barr substituted for the first name he suggests, and then, as he says, it could be turned upside down or inside out and command respect and popularity. Three of the names mentioned—Messrs. McClure, Singery and Hensel—have never entertained the question of seeking or accepting political office while devoted to journalism, and there is no office that would be likely to tempt either of them from their rural enjoyments to be bothered with the cares of office. They certainly understand that journalism and office seeking are as incompatible as day and night, and they may safely be counted out. Mr. Whitman and Mr. Meyers, however, from journalism and are eligible with the liberal education for the successful discharge of public trust that journalism has given them, and the veteran Barr began journalism and political ambition so long ago that he is law to himself and could be easily tempted in his own way better than any body else could do it with less experience. Journalism has no right to draw the lines on the veteran Colonel Barr, but the rule of this progressive journalistic age is that no office from President down, can be sought or accepted save by the sacrifice of journalistic success and usefulness.—Times.

Home of the Printers.

THE PURPOSE TO WHICH THE GIFT OF MESSRS. CHILDS AND DREXEL WILL BE APPLIED.

The committee of the International Typographical Union appointed to devise a plan whereby the munificent gift of Messrs. Childs and Drexel could be put to the best possible use will recommend that the $100,000 remain in interest for the space of five years. On the next birthday of George W. Childs it is proposed that every union printer out of the Mississippi River shall set up 1,000 cents, the proceeds of which shall go into this fund. Next, when the birthday of Anthony Drexel comes, every union printer west of the Mississippi shall in like manner contribute the pay of 1,000 cents to the fund.

Thus for five years it is proposed to commemorate in this way the birthday of these two generous givers. At the end of the period it is expected a handsome sum, not far short of $50,000, will have been raised. With this it is in contemplation to erect in Philadelphia a beautiful hall, which shall be known as the home of the craft—the sliding place for all time to come of the International Typographical Union.

Result of the Oregon Election.

The election returns from Oregon summarized are as follows: The Republicans elected Herman to Congress by 1,000 plurality, and also elect their candidate for Secretary of State, Superintendent of Public Instruction, and Public Printer. The Democrats elect their candidates for Governor, Treasurer, and Supreme Judge. As the Governor, Secretary of State, and Treasurer constitute the Board for the management of all State institutions, the Democrats will have control of the State affairs for the next four years. McBride (Republican), for Secretary of State, 40,000 plurality, and Strickland (Democrat) for Supreme Judge, 150 plurality. The official figures will not change this result. The Prohibitionists polled about 2,000 votes.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

From our regular correspondent.
WASHINGTON, D. C., June 14, 1886.
Having entered upon the seventh month of the first session of the forty-ninth Congress the lower House proposes to make an effort to crowd the work through within the time consumed by the session ending July 15th, 1886. This prospect to the outside observer is not very promising; but those supposed to direct the majority of the upper and lower Houses say that it can and probably will be accomplished. There is already a bill for the adjournment of the House fixing June 26th, for adjournment with the expectation that the date will not be more than ten or twelve days beyond that time.

The President and his wife have under contemplation a tour of the northern lakes with a select party of friends in a chartered steamer, during the summer. It is probable that they will spend some time on the sea-coast and in the mountain regions after the adjournment of Congress, and then go to their old home in Buffalo. According to the program they will leave Buffalo some time in August and make a trip which will include Lake Erie, Huron and Michigan making stops at points of interest. The program may be varied or abandoned, but it is under serious consideration at the White House and will probably be carried out. Much will depend upon the date of the adjournment of Congress. If Congress does not adjourn before August, the President will of course be detained in Washington and his summer outing, as now proposed, will be abandoned. It is said that the President and his wife have never been further west than the city of Buffalo. Mr. Cleveland is quite anxious to make a tour of the lakes, and if he does so, the Chicago-Troquois Club, to which he has a standing invitation, will doubtless entertain him.

There seems to have been very good management displayed in the matter of making contracts for post-office supplies during the eighteen months past, and consequently a great saving to the Government has been the result. During Judge Gresham's term as Postmaster General, the business became greatly complicated by the fact that he had binding contracts which, while they will doubtless yield fair profits to the contractors, will, at the same time, be of great advantage and benefit to the public at large. Take for instance the contract for stamped envelopes that made by the Postmaster General for the four coming years, commencing July 1st. Before advertising for proposals for these envelopes the Department had a great deal of preparatory work to transact consisting chiefly of getting the most suitable paper for the various styles of the old ones, and other work of a similar nature. It is estimated that there will be ordered by the Department during the coming year, $3,250,000 worth of stamped envelopes. If it should pay for them on the basis of the present contract a disbursement of over $500,000 over and above that which would be required to purchase the envelopes would be a saving of upward of a million of dollars or about 25 percent.

Take, again, the contract for supplying the Department with postal cards, stamps, tags, registered packages and dead letter and official envelopes. This contract was awarded to the 30th of June last and is to run for five years. The first year is near enough its close to enable a very correct idea being formed as to how it has worked so far and how it will work for the remaining three years. By the last of this month it is estimated that the books will show orders for the Department to amount to $1,952,253.58; and the amount paid for them will show a decrease of about 25 percent in the outlay for postal cards, and 45 percent in other classes during the previous fiscal year. Altogether the Postoffice Department under the supervision of Postmaster General Vilas is making an excellent record in purchasing its supplies.

The report that ex-Senator Davis of W. Va., might possibly be appointed Secretary of the Department, has caused much amusement during the past week, for it is well known that the President has no intention of appointing a successor to Secretary Manning—at least until the coming October. It is probable, if the truth were known, that the presence of Stephen Elkins, son-in-law of Mr. Davis, and Blaine's lieutenant in the last campaign, was the only drawback which the President found in sending the first of his married life to Deer Park. It was really laughable to see with what alacrity the fat-witted Elkins reached the latter place from New York in order to give his arrival announced during the President's sojourn there. Mr. Elkins is by no means a close-mouthed person and therefore, only arriving at Deer Park on the morning of Mr. Cleveland's departure he managed to interview him and parade his views of the President in the press dispatches the following day.

To be Hung.

Governor Pattison on Saturday signed the death warrant of Michael Metz, of Fayette, and August 12 is the day for his execution. Metz and a companion, named Roscoe Conkling, both Italians, were working at the sugar camp of Wm. Sturgis, in Fayette county, and on the night of September 22, 1885, Metz arose and shot Conkling and robbed him of $150, a revolver and watch. After waiting a reasonable time the Governor signed the death warrant on the day stated.

Explosion in a Coal Mine.

HOUSES BADLY SHAKEN UP AND THE SURFACE OF THE GROUND SINKING.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., June 10.—At a late hour last night the people living in and about the borough of Parsons were again thrown into a state of fear and excitement by the second explosion of gas in the mineral spring mine of the Lehigh Coal Company. Many persons living within a short distance of the mine were hurled about in their homes, and they thought for a moment that an earthquake had occurred. A large number of houses near the mine were badly shaken, and a great many windows were shattered. The surface of the ground near the Philadelphia and Reading depot has fallen fully two feet, and this afternoon was still sinking. All trains are being run over the spot at a slow rate of speed, and the track on which it is run is being repaired. Three houses belonging to one man about 300 feet from the mine have been moved some distance from their original positions. Fortunately no lives were lost, as there was no one in the mine when the explosion occurred, and tell there had been a still larger body of gas. The other is that an immense area has caved in, so extensive as to cause a powerful concussion of air, and that the noise heard was made by falling rock and coal rather than by an explosion. At present no one tells the real cause of the explosion, but it will be several days before any attempt will be made to go in. It is certain that great damage has been done.

The Laurel Run mine, operated by the Delaware and Hudson Company, into which there is an opening from the Mineral Spring mine, suspended work this afternoon, it being feared that this mine also is filling up with gas. The accident is a costly one to the Lehigh Valley Coal Company, and a large number of men and boys are for the present thrown out of employment.

Light-treat.

As is the general custom throughout the Methodist Conference to observe Children's day, the Sunday school, under the management of Supt. Grimes, engaged in these services on Sunday last. The exercises consisted in recitations by the children, both morning and evening. Select reading was engaged in by Misses Ida Custer, Alice Drishbliss, Jennie Heighard and Beckie Reighard. A song, "Clap Your Hands For Joy," was engaged in by thirteen little girls, whose ages range from 5 to 8 years. Rev. Owen addressed the children in the morning on the subject of "Wisdom," endeavoring to make the subject interesting by considering the matter in five points. 1st, the house, 2d, the open door, 3d, the feast, 4th, the company and 5th the welcome. For the ample time allotted, the minister did short justice to the subject. The church presented a fine appearance on account of its fine floral decorations, to which an address was given by Zella Custer, the closing address by Miss Sue Hicks.

J. W. McKelvey is improving his farm by fixing the building that so long needed the improvement.

J. W. Oman arrived home on Monday evening after spending in a four years' tour as cadet at Annapolis.

The first quarterly conference for Light-treat and Esby gave was held at Esby on the 10th inst. Betsy Hagenbach's residence puts forth a different appearance since being repainted.
